“Eliminate Liability & $ave Money”

Woman sues bingo hall owner after tripping in parking lot.

May 27, 2009 - The Madison Record - Madison, IL

A Granite City woman is suing the owner of a bingo hall, alleging that she tripped on parking blocks as she was exiting the building. After leaving the game, the woman tripped on a parking block that she claims she would have seen had it been more visible. She is seeking a judgement in excess of $50,000 plus costs.

It is sad but true that these concrete curbs cause costly slip and fall accidents on a regular basis. This property owner is lucky, the average liability claim that insurance companies experience for these injuries exceeds $175,000!

One of the main reasons that these blocks exist is to keep the drivers from damaging sign posts.

This is where Flexpost comes in. We have discovered a way to eliminate the costly repairs and replacement of bent or damaged sign posts. Our steel FlexPosts meet regulations with both six foot and eight foot heights available, unlike some of our competitors. Our FlexBollards add visibility with color and a rigid appearance.

Eliminate your liability by getting rid of those outdated and dangerous parking blocks and install our flexible steel sign posts or bollards today.
