

WE DON'T BLAME YOU FOR WORKING WITH OUR COMPETITORS!!!

After all, Albert Einstein once said “The definition of insanity is doing the same thing over and over again and expecting different results”.

Our main competition are the old fashioned U-channel and square channel sign posts.
We know that humans are creatures of habit, so going back to the only thing they know seems natural.
Not only that but these posts are cheaper than our Flexpost products, right? - WRONG!

The old fashioned posts are less expensive initially. The one thing that we can all agree on is that there is a good chance that the post will be impacted and damaged at some point. When that time finally comes and you are faced with the labor intensive and costly repair or replacement of these old fashioned posts, our Flexpost products would have just paid for themselves!

Our Flexpost products install in minutes with a power drill and standard hand tools.

The Flexpost products keep everything in line and offer a better first impression. To quote someone else from the 1980's “You never get a second chance to make a first impression”.

So we don't blame you for working with our competitors up to this point...
Maybe you just didn't know about our products?
